

Curriculum Vitae Hans-Jürgen Hörmann, PhD

Psychologist - Human Factors

German Aerospace Center (DLR)
Sportallee 54a, 22335 Hamburg, Germany

Email: hjhoermann@hotmail.com
Office Phone: +49-405130960

WORK EXPERIENCE

07/2006 – today German Aerospace Center (DLR) Germany

Senior Scientist Human Factors

- Research on Thermal Comfort of Railway Travellers
- Editorial Board of the International Journal of Aerospace Psychology
- Member of EASA Human Factors Collaborative Analysis Group (HF CAG)

04/2003 – 06/2006 Boeing Research & Technology Europe (BR&TE) Spain

Manager Safety and Human Factors

- Leadership and strategy development for the Safety and Human Team at Boeing Europe
- R & D work on Operational Safety Monitoring as well as Human Factors in Accident and Incident Investigation

10/1986 – 04/2003 German Aerospace Center (DLR) Germany

Senior Aviation Psychologist

- Project Lead for DLR in EC FP4/5 projects: ESSAI, JAR-TEL and NOTECHS
- Cultural calibration of job aptitude tests in China, Taiwan, Bahrain, and Spain

05/1980 - 09/1986 Free University of Berlin Germany

University Lecturer and Research Associate

- University Lecturer for Personality and General Psychology

EDUCATION, PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATES & AWARDS

2019	Nominated for Erwin-Schroedinger Price by Helmholtz-Foundation
2006	Fellow of the Royal Aeronautical Society (FRAeS), UK
2005	Technical Fellow of The Boeing Company, Seattle/WA
1998 - today	Certified Aviation Psychologist, European Association for Aviation Psychology
1999	Foreign consultant for Human Factors at CAAC, Beijing
1987	PhD in Applied Psychology, Free University, Berlin, Germany
1983 – 1986	Postgraduate Research Study, Max-Planck-Institute, Berlin, Germany
1980	Master of Science, Applied Psychology, Free University, Berlin, Germany
1977	Bachelor of Science in Psychology, Free University, Berlin, Germany
1974 – 1975	Study of Engineering and Construction, Technical University, Berlin, Germany

Hamburg, Germany, January 2020

Dr. Hans-Juergen Hoermann